

Did David Betray His Soldiers?

An Ethnographic Reading of the Israeli Defence Forces' Representation in Israeli Cinema

To Titti, Trix and the Monkeys, my Family.

To Tzachi and the Bacio, the Israeli one.

To and all my friends, inbetween...

“So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him” (Gen. 1:27)

“Those who do not move, do not notice their chains” (Rosa Luxemburg)

Contents

Preface
How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the IDF	V
Introduction
Beyond the Screen: Identity Politics and the Politics of Representation	1
a. The Contribution of Cultural and Postcolonial Studies to the Study of the Nation
b. The Contribution of Film Studies to the Study of Postcolonial Identities
c. The Contribution of Gender and GLBTQ Studies to the Study of the Nation
d. The Contribution of Gender and GLBTQ Studies to the Study of the IDF
e. Gender and Nation, Body and Space and the Connection between Postcolonial, GLBTQ and Film Studies
1. Making the Desert Bloom: New Jew, Ancient Orient and the Construction of the Sabra	18
1.1 From Basel to Tel Hai...from Hashomer to the Establishment of the IDF
1.2 “Sickle, Hammer and Gun”: the Role of the Sabra in the Socialist-Realist Propaganda of Edification
1.3 The Early Film Pioneers: Ethnography of Zionist Realist Cinema
2. From Zero to Hero: the Construction of the body of the nation as David vs Goliath	52
2.1 Building the Nation: the Rule of the Palmach Generation from the 1948 Independence War to the 1967 Six Day War
2.2 Building David: Spatial Liberation and Popular Fascination
2.3 Ethnography of Heroic-Nationalist Cinema of the Fifties and Sixties
3. When David Got Lost: Is it Still Good to Die for the Country?	82
3.1 The 1973 Kippur War and the Political Mahapach Overturn of the Seventies
3.2 Representing the Mekhdal and the End of the Collective Hangover
3.3 Ethnography of the New Sensibility in the Cinema of the Seventies
4. Apocalypse Now: Lebanon’s Mud and the metamorphosis of David to Goliath	124
4.1 The First Lebanon War and the Beginning of the Intifada
4.2 This is not a Western...
4.3 Ethnography of the Political Turn of the Cinema of the Eighties and Nineties
5. Back to the Army: the Privatization of the War Experience as David vs David	181
5.1 From the Second Intifada to the Wars of the New Millennium
5.2 “It is Good to die for Ourselves”
5.3 Ethnography of Israeli iMovies in the New Millennium Cinema
Conclusions
Thus, who is Goliath?	243
Glossary	250
Bibliography	253
Filmography	267
Acknowledgment	269